“My consciousness is made up of all this. My consciousness is used to the process of time, my consciousness thinks in terms of gradualness, my consciousness is practice and through practice to achieve, which is time. My consciousness is a process of time. Now I am asking that consciousness, can it go beyond this? Can we, who are caught in the movement of time, go beyond time? That question, consciousness cannot answer. Consciousness does not know what it means, because it can only think in terms of time and when questioned whether this process can end in which there is no time, it cannot answer, can it?”

- J. Krishnamurti

What is consciousness? What is it made of? Is consciousness limited to plant, animal and human consciousness or there are possibilities beyond. How does understanding of the consciousness help us live better? What are conscious, sub-conscious and unconscious layers of our existence? What is conditioning? Can it be broken through? How can one reach the deeper unconscious layers in oneself and cause a change there? All this and more will be the content of this workshop.
